Working Mission Statement

The working mission statement of LMNT is to provide hydrating, flavorful electrolyte drinks formulated using our unique science-based electrolyte ratio, designed to fuel active lifestyles and deliver friendly, energizing customer experiences to athletes and health-conscious individuals.

Operating Charter

Scope: Health-conscious consumers, specifically in fitness & wellness sphere, and keto diet followers.

Primary Objectives:

- Develop delicious formulas with more electrolytes than any leading competitors.
- Expand brand awareness through digital marketing and gym sample displays.
- Strengthen distribution channels across U.S. and Canada.

Secondary Objectives:

- Produce limited-edition flavors to keep customers interests
- Engage with community by sponsoring fitness events and competitions.

Aspirations:

- Establish LMNT as the top choice for clean, no-sugar or additives electrolyte drink.
- Continue to pioneer innovations in hydration science.

Quantifiable Measure Of Success:

- Increase Instagram followers by 15% by end of Q2 2025.
- Achieve 95%+ customer satisfaction scores from email surveys on post-purchase customers.

Constraints:

- Reliance on third-party companies for ingredients and production
- Tough competitors from established hydration drink brands.
- Competitors copying flavors or formula.

Primary Research

Competitor Sports Hydration brands researched:

- LiquidIV
- Gatorade Perform
- Propel
- Nuun
- G-Zero

Gotta-do’s

- Provide seamless online ordering and fast delivery.
- Offer products in both powder and ready-to-drink formats.
- Deliver high levels of electrolytes and essential vitamins for optimal hydration.
- Be active on digital advertising channels working with athletes and influencers.
- Feature a diverse range of bold, delicious flavors to satisfy all taste preferences.

Dumb-to-do’s

- Overloading products with sugar, caffeine, and artificial ingredients
- Generic marketing & lack of brand identity
- Lacking ingredient transparency
- Offering products low in electrolytes, especially sodium
- Creating redundant product variations that confuse customers.

Smart-to-do’s

- Increase accessibility in gyms and supplement shops
- Partnering with influencers to offer free flavor sampling packs
- Implement a website-based rewards program
- Educating consumers about how product addresses their specific hydration needs
- Adopt eco-friendly packaging

Secondary Research

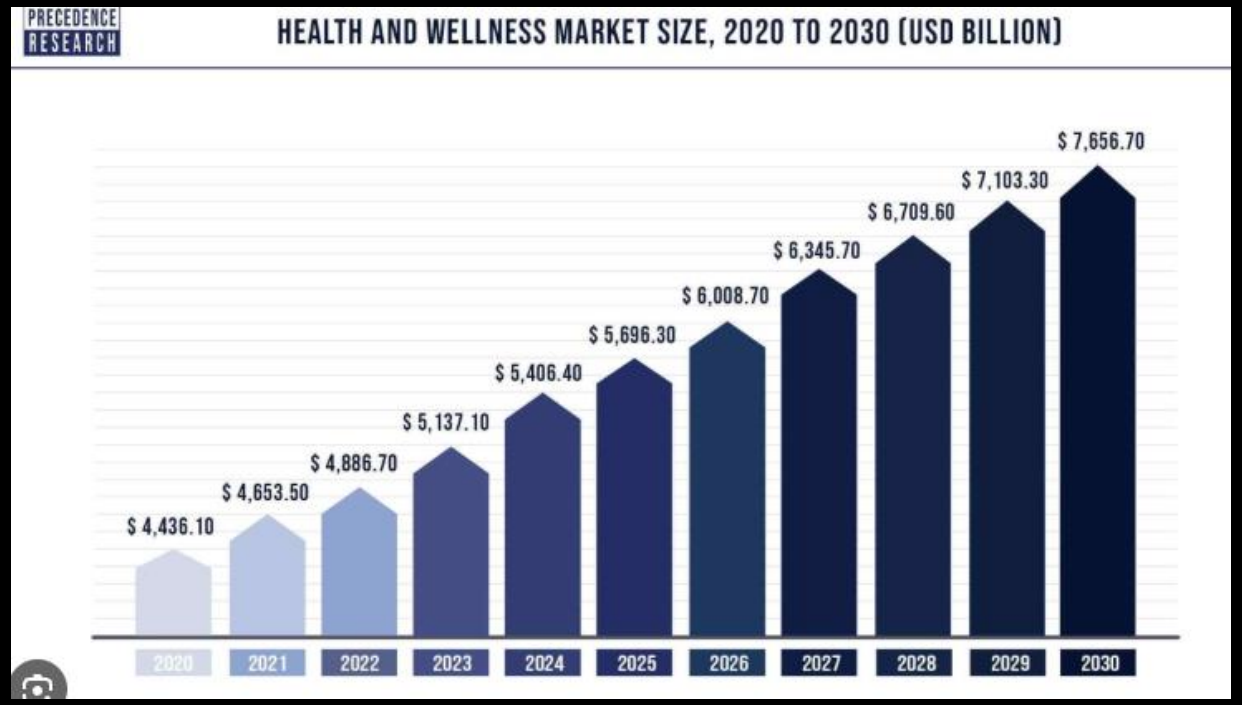
- According to Statista market research, the sports drink market has shown steady growth over recent years, with projections indicating continued positive trends through 2029. In 2023, the market reached 29.69 billion dollars in value, with a forecast to increase to 33.29 billion dollars by 2029. This growth reflects a strong demand for beverages that support active, health-conscious lifestyles

Over 30% of consumers purchased sports drinks over the last 3 months.

- The growing demand for hydrating, electrolyte-replenishing drinks is driving the expansion of the sports and electrolytes market, making them a top choice for athletes, fitness enthusiasts, and health-conscious consumers, as shown in Statista's bar graph ranking them among the top functional beverage categories

The Rise of the Health-Conscious US Consumer



- The market for health and wellness products, including supplements and sports drinks, has grown by billions of dollars in recent years, reflecting a trend of increased willingness to spend on health-related products

Nunn’s Immunity: Unique Offerings

- Nuun’s Immunity line, launched during the pandemic, offered unique immunity benefits that distinguished it from competitors. It boosted 2020 revenue by 40%, with Immunity products accounting for 15% of total sales. The line increased brand awareness by 20%,

High Brand Loyalty in Sports Drink Market

- According to research from SymphonyIRI Group, brand loyalty in the sports drink category ranges from 80-90%, significantly higher than the typical 50% seen in the broader food and beverage industry. This strong loyalty results in a much higher lifetime value for customers in this market.
